FAQs

What is a Credit Union?

A credit union is a non-profit, financial cooperative owned and operated by its members. The volunteer Board of Directors that oversees each credit union is elected by the membership. Credit unions have historically provided members with a safe place to save money, as well as a sensible place to borrow money at competitive interest rates through the “pooling” of members’ funds.

How can I open an account or join the Credit Union?

To join East Texas Professional Credit Union, each member must deposit a minimum of $5 into a savings account. These funds remain on deposit in your account throughout the duration of your membership in the Credit Union.

Who is eligible to join or open an account?

Membership in East Texas Professional Credit Union is available to all individuals who:

- Live or work in Anderson, Angelina, Northern Cherokee, Gregg, Harrison, Henderson, Nacogdoches, Panola, Rusk, Smith and Upshur counties (excluding those individuals who are members of an occupational credit union whose home office is located within these counties)
- Are employed or certified to work in education, health care, professional fields, government/social services and students in Camp and Marion counties
- Are employed or certified to work in the education fields and students in the following cities: Daingerfield in Morris County; Hughes Springs and Avinger in Cass County (student eligibility applies to students ages 17 or older)
